Precious Rose Heart: —

Just received your darling, wonderful letter of Wednesday, which I shall answer on Monday. Am patiently waiting to hear from you in answer to my Monday letter, in which I suggested the possible daddy in my trip. Honey, look, you understand, don't you, that it is there no desire of mine that I suggest it, as it is costing me a great amount of sacrifice. Yet I see no other way. I shall certainly try, to make it on the following Thursday, which will mean just a week more. The question of my health further me but I think Dr. Kamm ought to be able to do it in a week. Don't you. When I read in to-day's letter how you were planning for May 1st - I felt simply awful.

I am going home to-day mother's, first thing afternoon as I have not seen Mom since Well dept. I had intended to come up home last night, but, due to the weather, I suppose I felt simply lit tousled. I shall leave early to-day & so I shall have ample time. Rose tells me Mom is feeling as usual, and pretty soon comes Pascoe, and you know what that means. A week from to-morrow, however, and Mom will have the proper care. Henry is home, so ofcourse, it is to be expected his throat feels sore. I will speak to Mama about Frieda's going down, to-day, and let you know in the morning's letter.

I am very busy now, dear, so I shall have to close, with all my heart, love, and kisses.

Yours sweetheartly

Frances.
